From the President

I hope that all members had a pleasant Xmas and will now enjoy a successful New Year. We will begin the year with a most interesting AGM. Our Guest Speaker will be Tom Rogers, the Commonwealth Electoral Commissioner. Tom was sourced for us by one of our members Andy Becker, a former State and Commonwealth Electoral Commissioner.

We will be seeking approval from the meeting to agree to some important constitutional changes. On several occasions I have reminded members that with our declining membership it is becoming difficult to fill Officer and Ordinary Member positions on our Executive Committee. The average age of our committee members is 78 years. These changes to membership eligibility will enable us to expand our membership and hopefully attract Committee members. At this AGM we will gain a new Committee member and welcome back a former member. This will not be enough. The constitutional changes will open the door for former SCOA members to join our Association. This is explained in more detail elsewhere in this edition of the newsletter and on our website.

At the end of 2018 members of the Executive Committee had a useful meeting with the Treasurer, Mr Rob Lucas. The main discussion was about possibilities for changing the taxation status of part or all of our pensions from untaxed to taxed source income. The Treasurer was made aware of our policy on such a conversion, particularly the right for any member to decline such an offer and remain under present arrangements. Mr Lucas said that he would like to look at comparable schemes in other States such as Tasmania and NSW and meet with us again in early 2019. He will also be taking advice from the Treasury and from Super SA. In the meantime we have continued gathering more information of our own, including some relevant legal advice.

It will be an interesting year. I look forward to discussing these matters with you at the AGM.

Current CPI Change for 2019

The CPI change that will be made to our pensions in April is 0.80%

A salesman convinced a lady to have her windows double-glazed.

In the sales pitch, he told her,

"They will pay for themselves in 12 months".

When sent the bill, she refused to pay.

"The salesman said they would pay for themselves."

When it went to court, the judge agreed with the lady.

Constitutional Changes to Widen Membership Eligibility

The Superannuated Commonwealth Officers Association (SCOA) closed down its State offices some years ago because of declining membership and has since operated on a national basis. SCOA has now decided to wind up its organisation on 30 June 2019 because of declining membership and insufficient funds to maintain its Canberra office. Some members (about 15) of SCOA in South Australia have kept meeting informally once a month over lunch. This group has two delegates (James Vandenberg and Alan Raftery) to the national organisation. When it was decided that SCOA would close this group discussed what they might be able to do in the future and what organisation they could recommend to the 800 SCOA members resident in Adelaide. From those discussions I was invited to join a lunch meeting and talk about the possibility of them being able to join SA Superannuants. This led to us establishing a working party of some members of our Executive Committee and two SCOA delegates.

The working party agreed that there is a lot of common interests between SCOA members and our members. Not only do we both receive superannuation pensions but many of us are on part age pensions and have strong interests in such matters as Care Packages, the Commonwealth Seniors Health card entitlements and Residential Care facilities. Like SCOA we also have the problem of an ageing membership and difficulty in obtaining volunteers to serve on our Executive Committee. We agreed that it would be to our mutual advantage to change the Membership sections of the SA Superannuants Constitution so that retired commonwealth public servants would be eligible to join our Association.

We decided to present the following changes to the Annual General Meeting on 25 February 2019: Section 3.2 currently is worded "To be eligible to join the Association, a person must be in receipt of or be eligible to receive a pension or an annuity from the South Australian Fund or such other South Australian public sector fund as might from time to time be recommended by the Executive Committee and approved at an Annual General Meeting".

We recommend that Section 3.2 be changed to, "To be eligible to join the Association, a person must be in receipt of or be eligible to receive a pension or an annuity from a Commonwealth or South Australian Government Superannuation fund or such other public sector fund as might from time to time be recommended by the Executive Committee and approved at an Annual General Meeting or a Special General Meeting".

There will be a new sub-section 6.4, such as, "Members who were formerly members of the Superannuated Commonwealth Officers Association and retired public servants (post 30 June 2019) may stand for positions of officer or ordinary member of the Executive Committee. However, these numbers for the time being should be restricted to a maximum of four members of that Committee or such number as may be determined by the Executive Committee from time to time".

The existing sub-section 6.4. shall become sub-section 6.5, sub-section 6.5 shall become sub-section 6.6., sub-section 6.6. shall become sub-section 6.7. and there should be a new sub-section 6.8 as follows: "The Executive Committee may from time to time create Standing Sub-committees. The Annual General Meeting must be informed of the existence of such sub-committees and their terms of reference".

Your committee has invited the SCOA group that meets informally each month to join our general meetings from February to June 2019 as guests.

If any member wishes to discuss the suggested amendments to our constitution prior to the AGM, please feel free to contact me 82951832/peterfleming8@bigpond.com, or phone our Secretary Christine Venning on 83394871.

The above information has also been placed on our website. Peter Fleming

Superannuation Federation Report

At the November meeting of the Superannuation Federation there were only 5 delegates present: Peter Fleming and Christine Venning were our delegates.

Dascia Bennett and Patrick Macavaney from Super SA reported that Bill Griggs has been elected to the Super SA board. All appointments have been approved by Cabinet. There are two more board meetings for 2018.

Tony Keenan and Mike Grdosic (Head of Strategy) reported that Kevin Crawshaw was no longer on the board. Rob Paterson has been re-appointed.

Ten years after the GFC, the economy is growing stronger led by the US. Interest rates are very low. October 2018 was a volatile month. However interest rates are up to 2%.

It costs $300,000 to run the elections and only 16000 voted. The call centre is back to normal. Annual reviews have been posted to defined benefit pensioners.

Ambulance officers want the option to leave the defined benefit scheme for the Triple S.

In the Upper House there is a bill for choice of fund. The Super SA board is in favour in principle. It's the last fund in the country for a mandated membership. It was agreed that the unions affiliated with the Federation formulate a response to choice of fund legislation to be forwarded to the Treasurer.

It was agreed that Leah York, Bill Hignett and Rob Bonner be on the subcommittee. It was agreed to defer the constitutional issue to the next meeting. Christine Venning

Support for Carers

Opinion Piece by Richard Hearn,
Chief Executive Officer Resthaven

Staying at home for as long as possible is a key aspiration for many Australians. As time passes, support may be needed to enable this. There is a huge diversity of caring roles, from family members to paid carers. Anyone can care for a family member, so it is of immense importance that we recognise and respect the valuable role of family carers.

Carers Australia Inc. (www.carersweek.com.au) acknowledges that carers make an enormous contribution to our community and the national economy - to the tune of around $1 billion per week.

As people age, they may find themselves increasingly frail, or with early signs of dementia, and reduced ability to perform everyday tasks. As well as seeking support from family or friends, who may then become 'family carers', a consultation with the doctor is recommended.

There are many rewards in caring for someone you know well. It involves a closeness, love and responsibility within the relationship, and support is often freely given. However, as a person's need for support becomes more complex, it can impact on the carer's life as well. Caring can be exhausting, yet many are reluctant to seek support.

Maintaining their support network of friends and family, and looking after themselves by taking a break from time to time is critical to a carer's wellbeing.

Support for carers is available. Day and overnight respite offers a break from the caring role, while ensuring there is appropriate support being given to their loved one. Respite is available, for a couple of hours, to several days, staying overnight, with 24 hour support. Respite services provide personalised care and meaningful activities according to each person's individual preferences. Carers have peace of mind in knowing that regular, daily routines are maintained.

These services are invaluable for carers who may need a refreshing break, or just need some time out to catch up with family and friends. Community respite services are available in centre-based respite cottages or in a person's own home. Respite is also available for eligible seniors in residential aged care homes. I encourage people to utilise respite services when and as needed.

Of critical importance in supporting people in their aspirations to stay in their own home is the need for the government to give priority to the 121,000 people assessed for, but not receiving, support at home through a Home Care Package at the level for which they have been assessed. Most people on the waitlist have high care needs and the wait period is more than 12 months. This is unacceptable. I encourage those who share my concerns, to raise them with their local federal politician.

About Resthaven:

Resthaven offers the full range of aged care services, from a little help at home through the Commonwealth Home Support Programme, Levels 1-4 Home Care Packages, Restorative Care Packages, and private services that don't require an ACAT assessment, to 24/7 residential aged care and respite accommodation throughout metropolitan Adelaide, the Riverland, Murraylands, Fleurieu Peninsula, Gawler and lower Barossa, and throughout the Limestone Coast of South Australia. For details visit www.resthaven.asn.au or phone 1300 13 66 33.

Resthaven's Community Respite Services support carers of older people in their own homes, in centre based care and respite cottages, including extended day and overnight respite. Details call 08 8198 2060. Julie Johnke

Our Treasurer, Michael Evans

Resting at a
meeting.

Dr Michael Evans has two degrees in Chemistry and a Diploma in Education. He has worked as Chemist for twenty years, then as an Education Researcher for fifteen years. Michael retired in 2014. Lived in South Australia since 1972, he joined SA Superannuants 11 years ago, shortly thereafter becoming a committee member and then treasurer. Interests are classical music, carpentry, computing, and playing cards. He is social secretary of a walking group and record keeper for a book club.

CPI versus Age Pension Indexation

Our Super SA pensions are indexed twice-yearly (April and October) to changes in the Consumer Price Index for Adelaide. The age pension is indexed via a more complex arrangement. According to an Australian Parliament publication most government social security pensions, including the age pension are, “indexed twice each year (on 20 March and 20 September) by the greater of the movement in the CPI or the Pensioner and Beneficiary Living Cost Index (PBLCI). They are then ‘benchmarked’ against a percentage of Male Total Average Weekly Earnings (MTAWE).”

The combined couple rate is benchmarked to 41.76 per cent of MTAWE; the single rate of pension is set at 66.33 per cent of the combined couple rate (which is equal to around 27.7 per cent of MTAWE). ‘Benchmarked’ means that after it has been indexed, the combined couple rate is checked to see whether it is equal to or higher than 41.76 per cent of MTAWE. If the rate is lower than this percentage, the rates are increased to the appropriate benchmark level.”

Over the long term age pension indexation has outstripped CPI indexation by more than 1% p.a. and this has led the Association, and other organisations representing the interests of defined benefit superannuants, to seek age pension indexation for our pensions. The two indexation rates over the last several years have been much closer than previously. In 2018 the two CPI adjustments to Super SA pensions were 1.83% in April and 0.81% in October. The two adjustments to age pension were 1.47% in March and 0.96% in September. So Adelaide CPI indexation was actually better than age pension indexation in 2018. However this is not likely to last.

Speaker's Corner

In September members had the pleasure of listening to Alice Jarvis from the Legal Services Commission as she spent a considerable time explaining the necessity of wills, powers of attorney and advanced care directives.

A will is a legal document in which we set out our wishes and instruction for the distribution of our assets after death. The executor is tasked with ensuring your estate is distributed according to the will. It should include funeral arrangements. It can be updated with any change of circumstances. The executor can be any adult: relative, friend, beneficiary, accountant, lawyer or public trustee.

It is not advisable to write your own will or use a will kit. If it is not prepared according to strict legal rules it may be declared invalid and the court will decide how to distribute your estate. You also need to update your will if any circumstances change e.g. additional grandchildren.

Alice then went on to explain about probate. The executor has to satisfy the Supreme Court that it is the last will and testament of the deceased. If the estate is small then probate may not be necessary.

Alice then explained who can contest a will: spouse, domestic partner of deceased spouse, children (natural, adopted, step, grandchildren), parents, siblings. The two usual grounds for contesting a will are: invalidity or inadequacy of provisions. There are also people who cannot contest the will: grandparents, uncles, aunts, nieces, nephews, cousins, friends or paid carers. Intestacy occurs when: there is no will, the will fails to properly dispose of all the assets, is not signed or witnessed, or is poorly drafted. These show the importance of having the will properly drafted.

In the next issue, advanced care directives will be discussed.

From your Membership Officer

"You know", many enjoyed my last article, and responded by renewing your 2019 annual fees. Some changed from annual to life memberships. "I know", many did not renew immediately and 184 are still outstanding.

Membership fees are now overdue.

I hope this complimentary copy prompts you to pay your fees immediately. Receiving our publication will update your knowledge about our pension system and articles about the ever-changing aged situations, both political and social. I remind you of the words of a new member from the last newsletter, who suggested that politicians treat, "...retirees as malleable cash cows." Exciting changes to our association are currently being outlined.

The statistics are:

Membership: 1491, consisting of 1001 life members, 375 annual members (150 still due), and 115 partner members (25 still due).

There are 175 yet to pay for 2019. I always worry when such a large proportion of this organisation leave it to pay after expiration of membership. We could lose 12% of our people if we did not send you this newsletter and follow up later with reminder letters and emails.

The plea:

We are all volunteers, so what about helping me? Reduce my work load by getting your fees in now, saving the cost and time of follow-up letters and emails? Help the Association by remaining financial members.

Remember, our numbers make us,
"a force to be reckoned with."

Renew right now, before you forget.

Max Jahn

A man was walking along a beach when he came across a lamp partially buried in the sand. He picked up the lamp and gave it a rub. A genie appeared and told him he has been granted one wish.

The man thought for a moment and said, "I want to live forever."

"Sorry," said the genie, "I'm not allowed to grant eternal life."

"OK, then, I want to die after a Labor government balances the budget and eliminates the debt."

"You crafty little bastard," said the genie.
